"The Elevator Industry loved being one of the featured Try-a-Skill booths at the 2025 National Leadership & Skills Conference. Not only did the hands-on learning stations pique the interests of the students, but the format changed the dynamic of how we communicated the opportunities available to SkillsUSA students in the elevator industry. We were able to engage the students (and advisors) in a more meaningful way, and the students interacted with current field and engineering employees at each station to learn about the work and the different career ladders available within our industry."

- Amy Blankenbiller, Executive Director NEII
